The Mansion

Guests will enjoy the beautiful architecture of the mansion. From floor-to-ceiling windows, ornate moldings, original fixtures, elegant spiral stairways, arched doorways, antique chandeliers, and numerous beautiful entryways, the mansion resonates elegance.

Overnight Accommodations

For those staying the night, there are 17 exquisitely decorated rooms, featuring period furniture and modern amenities. Each room offers top-quality Hilton mattresses and premium bedding for comfort and elegance. For groups needing more than the 24 beds in the mansion, the Carriage House offers eight additional rooms.

The Estate

The scenic grounds of the estate include manicured lawns, beautiful gardens, an enormous greenhouse, the original carriage house, a sprawling fountain flanked by architectural ponds (with plans to be refurbished to its original working condition in the near future), and a panoramic view of the Susquehanna with tree-lined banks. The property offers opportunities for a variety of lawn games, meeting breakouts, and a stunning backdrop for outdoor team building.

The Staff

Groups can work in the lap of luxury, taken care of by the manor's attentive staff. With a full-time chef utilizing recipes of old along with a mix of new favorites, the staff can create a menu for any palate. They can provide catering for events up to 65 attendees, and welcome outside vendors for larger gatherings. The management is happy to recommend some of the area's best catering professionals.

History

The former estate of renowned industrialist and DuPont executive Frank Donaldson Brown and his wife, the former Greta duPont Barksdale, this stunning manor has presided over the Susquehanna River since 1939. The mansion's red-brick façade is a perfect example of the Georgian-Revival style popular at the time. One of Maryland's most iconic houses, it was bequeathed to the University of Maryland in the 1960s.

17 BEDROOMS

Historic Accommodations

The mansion boasts seven spacious suites with private baths. Each suite belonged to a member of the Brown family in the 1930s, with two offering impressive dressing rooms featuring original cabinetry. Each suite has unique moldings and period furniture with views overlooking the river or the lawns.

Additionally, there are 10 bedrooms in the mansion with shared baths for private groups. All of the 17 bedrooms have recently been upgraded with high-quality Hilton mattresses and luxury linens for premium comfort. If more sleeping arrangements are needed, there are eight rooms available in the Carriage House. (Overflow guests may be able to reserve rooms at a discounted rate at the Great Wolf Lodge in Perryville, located just 3 miles away. Discounts are based on seasonal pricing and availability.)

Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Allow our chef to spoil your group with classic breakfast options such as a waffle bar, scrambled eggs, French toast casserole, or spinach/sausage quiche. The staff will work closely with you to define a menu that will amaze your overnight guests. Then enjoy chicken marsala and baked ziti for lunch followed by our chef's famous baked salmon and Monterey chicken for dinner.
